

My Story

Fill in the blanks to be the hero of your very own story.

- (1) _____ adjective
- (2) _____ your city
- (3) _____ adjective
- (4) _____ your name
- (5) _____ color
- (6) _____ high blood glucose #
- (7) _____ name of your hospital
- (8) _____ your doctor's name
- (9) _____ diabetic testing tool
- (10) _____ family member's name
- (11) _____ friend's name
- (12) _____ your podiatrist's name
- (13) _____ dollar amount you have spent on diabetes this year
- (14) _____ high fiber food (plural)
- (15) _____ fruit (plural)
- (16) _____ adjective
- (17) _____ low blood glucose #

Once upon a time in a (1) kingdom called (2) there lived a (3) prince/princess named (4).

During the royal ball, a mysterious gift appeared on the palace steps. When opened, the sky became a dark (5). The crowd gasped and shouted, "Beware! It is the dreaded (6)-foot monster, Mellitus. Please save us!"

So (4) raced to the (7) tower to seek the help of the magical wizard, (8), who presented him/her with an enchanted (9) and advised (4) to use its power wisely.

Once bestowed with the magical tool, (4) raced to the Mellitus monster and recruited (10) and (11) to support the relentless attack. Wearing custom designed footwear from the village shoemaker, (12), they were too speedy for Mellitus, forcing him to run (13) laps around the kingdom. They caused him to tumble to the ground by flinging (14) and small (15) at his belly. Cornering Mellitus, (4) revealed the enchanted (9) and pointed it directly at the (16) beast.

Abruptly, the earth shook. Clouds appeared. Mellitus' body began to shrink. When the air cleared, the crowd spotted a small creature, only (17) inches tall. Mellitus had been reduced to a docile palace pet.

With Mellitus' wrath under control, (4) regained his/her power and returned to rule the kingdom happily ever after.